HUGHES NAMED U. S. MEMBER HAGUE COURT

APPOINTMENT WELL RECEIVED IN ALL CIRCLES

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE, WILL SERVE SIX YEARS
IN POSITION

GOVERNMENT AS EARLY AS 1899 PARTICIPATED IN THE
HAGUE CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as United States member of the Hague permanent court of arbitration was well received in the legal and political circles here today.

The former secretary of state and former associate justice of the United States supreme court, will serve six years, succeeding the late George Gray.

President Coolidge's action in filling the American seat on the Hague arbitration tribunal has no relation whatever to the administration's attitude toward United States adherence to the League of Nations world court under the senate reservations, it was said.

This government participated in the Hague conference of 1899, which established the court and has been represented on its bench by such American jurists as Elihu Root and John Bassett Moore.

Hughes will not be obliged to reside continuously at the Hague, and is expected to continue the law practice for which he resigned from the state department in March, 1925.

NEW ARREST IN HALL - MILLS MURDER CASE

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 1.—(UP)—A new arrest for murder will be made in the Hall-Mills case, Patrick Hayes, chief investigator for Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, told newspapermen today.

Hayes said the arrest would be made soon, on new information obtained by the state, but insisted that the information had no bearing on the statement made by Henry Dickman, former state trooper, investigating the case.

TRAIL OF FOUR BANDITS LOST BY PURSUERS

QUARTET LOOTED BANK AT NEW ROCKFORD, N. D.,
OF $90,000

8 CUSTOMERS WERE HERDED IN THE REAR OF THE BANK

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 1.—(UP)—With the trail lost after they had been pursued for 50 miles, search was continued today for four bandits who held up 12 persons in the First National bank here Thursday and escaped with $90,000 in cash and securities.

Lyon W. Schwoebel, cashier of the bank, reported that $60,000 of the loot was in cash and negotiable securities and the remainder in registered bonds.

Three bandits staged the robbery, while the fourth waited at the wheel of a high powered light blue automobile.

Drawn revolvers forced the persons in the bank to hold up their hands, the four bank officials were marched into the vault which then was locked.

The eight customers were herded in the rear of the bank and while one bandit stood guard the other two swept the counters clean. They worked quickly, piling the loot in their arms.

After they had escaped, the customers released the officials and the alarm was spread.

Business men who formed a posse trailed the bandit's automobile as far as Tolna, but there lost the trail.

BEMOANS PASSING OF GOOD OLD DAYS OF MELODRAMA

By BERT M. DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

Chicago, Oct. 1.—In the fantastic shadows back stage, Frank A. P. Gazzelle today spent his last hours as a show man and bemoaned the passing of the "good old days" of melodrama.

The stage profession, he said, has lost its glamour and he is leaving it to spend the remainder of his life on the other side of the curtain.

Gazzelle is the dean of middle western showmen. He is known by actors and producers from one end of the land to the other. But he has now contracted with Samuel Insull, the utility baron, to turn over his interest in the Studenaker theater which he has managed for the last four years.

At about the time curtains begin to rise over the city for afternoon performances tomorrow, Gazzelle will sever his last connection with the theater.

CROSS EXAMINE GEO. E. WILLIAMS WITH VIGOR

FIRST DEFENSE WITNESS IN THE DAUGHERTY-MILLER CON-SPIRACY TRIAL

WILLIAMS SAYS HE WAS RESPON-SIBLE FOR RUSHING METAL
CO.'S CLAIM

By E. W. LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Oct. 1.—The cross examination to which United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner has subjected George E. Williams, first defense witness in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial continued today with unabated vigor.

The government was making every attempt to break down the testimony of the former managing director of the claims division in the alien property custodian's office gave yesterday.

Williams, who admitted he did the most to rush through Richard Merton's claims for the return of $7,000,000 in assets of the American Metal Company, has testified that he alone was responsible for that haste.

The three days it took to pass the claims he considered not unusual, he said. He said he gave the matter all the attention it deserved and testified that Colonel Miller, the alien property custodian, had not told him what to do in the matter.

Williams, an adroit, almost debonair, witness in the hands of the defense, wilted before the government.

He spoke in a low nervous voice, his large eyes gazing rapidly about the court room. But for his bronzed face, he gave every indication of intense nervousness.

Buckner was aware of the witness' perturbed attitude and made every gesture one of accusation.

Duluth, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Cottontail rabbits are destroying St. Louis county crops, directors of the St. Louis County club said in a resolution asking Governor Theodore Christianson to rescind his order which established a closed season. Senator Borah, Opponent of World Court, Defends U. S. Stand on International Loans

MAKES SPEECH IN MINNEAPOLIS ON THESE TOPICS

VOICES FIRM REITERATION OF HIS STAND ON BOTH QUESTIONS

"NATIONS ACCEPT OUR RESER-VATIONS WITH INTERPRE-TATIONS OF THEIR OWN"

Minneapolis, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Senator William E. Borah, republican, of Idaho, opponent of the world court and defender of America's stand on international loans, ended a day of speech making here Thursday with a firm reiteration of his stand on both questions.

The fiery westerner declared that many prominent European statesmen had done an "about face" following America's entry into the world conflict. At that time, he said, Uncle Sam was pictured as a benevolent friend who had since grown to be an Uncle Shylock.

"Now they neglect to say that without the American boy on the field of battle the outcome would have been wholly different," the senator said. "What, therefore, causes this criticism against us? We took 70 cents on the dollar from Great Britain on our debt and gave Great Britain 62 cents to pay it. We took 28 cents on the dollar from Italy and gave it the same length of time. Yet when we try to collect what we loaned to France after the war, we are accused of 'trying to destroy her independence.'"

"We should have said," continued Borah, "pay what you can and when you can, but this money belongs to American taxpayers, not to the United States government."

Concerning the world court protocol, Borah declared that the opponents of the measure were given but a short time for discussion on the floor of the senate with the admonition that they were holding up the cause of peace.

"We joined—with reservations," said Borah. "The other nations have had eight months to consider these reservations, yet we hear nothing of holding up the cause of peace. In that consideration they have decided to accept our reservations, but with their own interpretations of them. These interpretations virtually invalidate the fourth and fifth reservations."

ENGLAND TO AID STOPPING RUM RUNNING

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH U. S.
PROHIBITION AUTH-
ITIES

BAHAMA ISLANDS AND OTHER BRITISH PORTS ARE SCRUTINIZED

Washington, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Great Britain has agreed to co-operate with the United States prohibition authorities in checking rum running from the Bahama Islands and other British ports.

In announcing that the British government had accepted "the suggestions made at the recent London conference for administrative co-operation for prevention of the illicit liquor trade," state department officials emphasized that the new agreement was not a treaty. No text was made public.

It is understood that the British government has voluntarily relaxed some of its port regulations to facilitate speedy entry of American rum chasers and that it will exercise more care in granting ships papers to suspicious craft. But Great Britain is believed to have retained the right to cancel the new regulations if and when she desires.

The new "suggestions" became ef-

CAUGHT IN A LAND SLIDE AND HURLED 1,500 FEET

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Caught in a snow slide near Tuscar, Alberta, Thursday, hurled 1,500 feet down a mountain side, M. Kerns, Seattle business man, and Tex Byers, Tuscar guide, had miraculous escapes from death. Kerns had to be transported over 45 miles of rough country with a broken arm and several minor injuries. Byers escaped unhurt.

It was while the party was negotiating the surface of a mountain after having brought down a wild sheep that Kerns and Byers were caught in the avalanche of snow and hurled down the mountain side. Both arrived back at Mountain Park safely. They had been in the mountains since September 17. Continuous snowfalls and thaws had made traveling difficult.

3 OFFICIALS OF CICERO ARE INDICTED

ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY TO VIOLATE PROHIBITION
LAWS

INCLUDED IN 79 BILLS RETURN-ED AGAINST KNOWN BEER RUNNERS, ETC.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Three city officials of Cicero, Ill., a suburban city of 50,000 population, were indicted today by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws. The indictments were included in 79 true bills returned by the grand jury against Cicero townpeople.

Joseph G. Kwanlinka, his secretary, and Theodore Svoboda, chief of police, were the officials indicted.

Most of the remainder of the indictments were against known beer runners and underworld characters.

Government officials have been making an investigation of Cicero affairs for several months and the investigation was doubled in the spring when Assistant State's Attorney William McSwiggan of Chicago was shot by machine gunners in Cicero.

McSwiggan, with two known beer runners, was killed in front of a place known as "The Saloon." The slayers never have been captured but numerous raids have been made through the west side suburb since, resulting in confiscation of considerable liquor.

Among those indicted today were Michael Hanrahan, Chicago patrolman; Scarface Al Caponi, gangster, who was arrested for questioning in the McSwiggan murder; Ralph Caponi, Joe Modli, proprietor of "The Ship," an alleged gambling hall; Harry Madrigan and Mike Wendell, proprietors of "The Saloon."

BUREAU CORRECT
ON ITS PREDICTION

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Heavy rains predicted by the weather bureau here yesterday arrived on schedule today.

Early today a drizzle turned into a downpour and indications were the rain would continue throughout the day.

Effective September 29, it was announced today. They are supplementary regulations in addition to the British-American liquor treaty and in view of the administration do not require ratification by the senate.

There was some suggestion today that the senate may insist upon seeing the text of the new agreement though a similar supplemental agreement with Canada a year ago was not questioned.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, dry czar, headed the American delegation which drew up the agreement of July 27.

JUDGE TO GIVE TESTIMONY IN EVANGELIST CASE

SUPERIOR JUDGE CARLOS HARDY IS CALLED AS A WIT-NESS

NEWEST SENSATION IN ALLEGED
KIDNAPING CASE OF MRS.
McPHERSON

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—The attempt to prove that Almee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, told something other than the truth when she said she was kidnapped while bathing last summer, went on today with the announcement that Superior Judge Carlos Hardy would be called as a witness, the newest sensation in the case.

Mrs. McPherson and several others are being given a preliminary hearing on five counts of conspiring to give a false version of her case to the grand jury and to state authorities.

Judge Hardy will be questioned regarding his knowledge of several "letters of instruction" allegedly with his signed name and found on the body of A. R. McKinley, blind Long Beach attorney, employed by Mrs. McPherson to aid in finding her kidnappers. McKinley committed suicide since the investigation of her story was begun.

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sellaff, who confessed that she was hired by the evangelist to produce a "Miss X" mystery companion of Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly radio operator at Angelus Temple, the seat of Mrs. McPherson's church, was said to have received a letter from the judge of the superior court.

Keyes said the letter was mailed in Seattle and received in San Francisco by Mrs. Sellaff, whom he regards as his star witness in his prosecution of Mrs. McPherson. It will be introduced at the evangelist's hearing, Keyes said.

It reads: "Dear Madam: Received your message. We are going to Canada today, but will return to this hotel September 7 and sail from here September 9 on the H. F. Alexander steamship for San Francisco, arriving there Thursday morning, September 9. Hope that by that time the matters you are working on will all have reached a happy issue.

"Yours,

"Judge."

The theory of the prosecution was believed to be that Hardy was retained by one of the alleged conspirators to aid them in producing a "Miss X" whom Ormiston swore was his companion in a cottage at Carmel for 10 days during Mrs. McPherson's absence and whom Keyes contends was in fact the evangelist.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Subdued by tear gas after he became violent and attacked his jailers, Tony Viterre was hanged here early today for the murder of Antonio Saverio.

Viterre attacked Deputy Sheriff D. O. Robinson who entered his cell to prepare him for the death march to the scaffold. With a knife fashioned from an iron spoon and a length of iron pipe, the condemned man drove the deputy from the cell.

Robinson summoned aid and drums of tear gas were brought. The spray was directed into the cell until Viterre fell to the floor in agony.

Then his arms and legs were trus-

FLOOD WATERS IN TWO STATES CAUSE DAMAGE

Fulton, Mo., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Considerable property damage is reported in the bottom lands near here with Loutre creek on a rampage following the rains of the last few days. The creek is again out of its banks and motor traffic tied up on the cross state highway. A few weeks ago hundreds of motorists were held near here by the overflowing of the creek. No loss of life has been reported.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Farmers in the Arkansas and Potomac rivers bottoms are moving stock and machinery to high ground today to escape the flood waters of the two streams raised by heavy rains during the last few days.

The Arkansas is at flood stage and will go three feet above the mark, the weather bureau predicted. The two streams flow together at Fort Smith and damage in the city is momentarily expected, though the water has not reached into the town as yet.

43 ENTOMBED MEN GETTING READY FOR WORK

TRADITIONS OF MINERS THE
WORLD OVER SUSTAINED BY
IRONWOOD MEN

MINING STRAIN IS OBSTINATE.
EXPERIENCE WILL NOT DE-
TER RESUMING WORK

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 1.—(UP)—The traditions of miners the world over are being sustained by the 43 men, rescued after being trapped for five days in the Pabst iron mine, for they are getting ready to go back to work.

Most of them are married, some have children and the hazards of their trade have been impressed vividly by the experiences they have just been through, but the mining strain is obstinate and all but a few will descend again into the earth with carbide lamp, pick and dinner bucket.

Those in other callings wonder at their courage. But the risks they run are "part of the game" as an official of the Oliver Mining Company commented shortly after the miners had been saved. There is no other explanation.

Pronounced well on the way to recovery, the 43 men left the Fairview hospital here Thursday evening and returned to their homes, some still weak.

An investigation of the cave-in, which cost the lives of three men, who were crushed to death in a mine cage, will be "welcomed" by the mining company its officials said, in response to the demand of the Ashland (Wis.) Press for a federal inquiry.

John W. Chapple, managing editor of the newspaper, charged that the mining company, had neglected to take precautions for the safety of the mine.

Colonel A. S. Williams,
'Cocktail Case' Defendant,
Drowned in Frisco Bay

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—Colonel Alexander S. Williams, U. S. Marine corps, defendant in the General Butler "cocktail case," was drowned here early today when his automobile plunged into San Francisco bay from the Embarcadero.

His body, recovered after several hours work, was identified by papers in his pockets. He was lodged behind the wheel of the car, which plunged into 30 feet of water. Williams left home last night to attend a dinner, telling his wife he would be late in returning home. She identified the body at the morgue.

sed and he was carried to the scaffold where the hanging was carried out. Viterre was pronounced dead in six minutes.

The last words he spoke were in abuse of the officers and the judge and jury who had found him guilty and sentenced him.

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The steel screw oil burner New Britain was so bad in the hold of the freighter that her port and starboard plates were buckling. The burning boat was 270 miles southeast of her goal and making 11 knots an hour.

Captain Slatery reported the fire was so bad in the hold of the freighter that her port and starboard plates were buckling. The burning boat was 270 miles southeast of her goal and making 11 knots an hour.

The New Britain is a 5,174 ton freighter owned by the Great North Western Shipping Corporation. On this trip was bound for San Diego from Philadelphia under charter to the Williams steamship line.

FURMORE STEAMS TO
AID OF NEW BRITAIN

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 1.—The crew of the freighter New Britain will be rescued by the steamship Furmore, if the fire menace on the New Britain grows more critical, the Furmore advised the United States naval radio station here early today.

The Furmore is following the New Britain towards this port.

Three fire boats are ready in Savannah to fight the flames when the ship enters port. It is impossible to fight the fire on the open sea. If the hatches are opened, the ship may be engulfed in flames, according to radio messages from Captain Slatery.

The coast guard cutter Seneca and an Atlantic Towing Company tug are en route to meet the burning boat.

No lives have been lost, according to radio messages.

FIRE REPORTED UNDER CONTROL

Washington, Oct. 1.—Fire aboard the steamer New Britain off Savannah, Ga., is under control and she no longer needs escort, the navy department was advised today by the transport Chaumont. The Chaumont got in touch with the burning ship racing for port during the night and ascertaining she needed no aid, proceeded on her way to Guantanamo.

Minneapolis, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Senator William E. Borah, republican, of Idaho, opponent of the world court and defender of America's stand on international loans, ended a day of speech making here Thursday with a firm reiteration of his stand on both questions.

The fiery westerner declared that many prominent European statesmen had done an "about face" following America's entry into the world conflict. At that time, he said, Uncle Sam was pictured as a benevolent friend who had since grown to be an Uncle Shylock.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—The attempt to prove that Almee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, told something other than the truth when she said she was kidnapped while bathing last summer, went on today with the announcement that Superior Judge Carlos Hardy would be called as a witness, the newest sensation in the case.

Mrs. McPherson and several others are being given a preliminary hearing on five counts of conspiring to give a false version of her case to the grand jury and to state authorities.

Judge Hardy will be questioned regarding his knowledge of several "letters of instruction" allegedly with his signed name and found on the body of A. R. McKinley, blind Long Beach attorney, employed by Mrs. McPherson to aid in finding her kidnappers. McKinley committed suicide since the investigation of her story was begun.

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Seiffert, who confessed that she was hired by the evangelist to produce a "Miss X," mystery companion of Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly radio operator at Angelus Temple, the seat of Mrs. McPherson's church, was said to have received a letter from the judge of the superior court.

Keyes said the letter was mailed in Seattle and received in San Francisco by Mrs. Seiffert, whom he regards as his star witness in his prosecution of Mrs. McPherson. It will be introduced at the evangelist's hearing, Keyes said.

It reads: "Dear Madam: Received your message. We are going to Canada today, but will return to this hotel September 7 and sail from here September 7 on the H. P. Alexander steamship for San Francisco, arriving there Thursday morning, September 9, and will leave San Francisco that day for home, motoring. Hope that by that time the matters you are working on will all have reached a happy issue."

"Yours," "Judge." The theory of the prosecution was believed to be that Hardy was retained by one of the alleged conspirators to aid them in producing a "Miss X" whom Ormiston swore was his companion in a cottage at Carmel for 10 days during Mrs. McPherson's absence and whom Keyes contends was in fact the evangelist.

SUBDUED BY TEAR GAS, MAN IS HANGED

TONY VITTERE BECOMES VIOL-ENT, ATTACKS HIS JAILERS

WITH ARMS AND LEGS TRUSSED, CONDEMNED MAN HANGED
AT BUTTE

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Subdued by tear gas after he became violent and attacked his jailers, Tony Vitteere was hanged here early today for the murder of Antonio Savero.

Vitteere attacked Deputy Sheriff D. O. Robinson who entered his cell to prepare him for the death march to the scaffold. With a knife fashioned from an iron spoon and a length of iron pipe, the condemned man drove the deputy from the cell.

Robinson summoned aid and drums of tear gas were brought. The spray was directed into the cell until Vitteere fell to the floor in agony.

Then his arms and legs were trus-

FLOOD WATERS IN TWO STATES CAUSE DAMAGE

Fulton, Mo., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Considerable property damage is reported in the bottom lands near here with Lautre creek on a rampage following the rains of the last few days. The creek is again out of its banks and motor traffic tied up on the cross state highway. A few weeks ago hundreds of motorists were held near here by the overflowing of the creek. No loss of life has been reported.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Farmers in the Arkansas and Poteau rivers bottoms are moving stock and machinery to high ground today to escape the flood waters of the two streams raised by heavy rains during the last few days.

43 ENTOMBED MEN GETTING READY FOR WORK

TRADITIONS OF MINERS THE
WORLD OVER SUSTAINED BY
IRONWOOD MEN

MINING STRAIN IS OBSTINATE,
EXPERIENCE WILL NOT DE-
TER RESUMING WORK

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 1.—(UP)—The traditions of miners the world over are being sustained by the 43 men, rescued after being trapped for five days in the Pabst iron mine, for they are getting ready to go back to work.

Most of them are married, some have children and the hazards of their trade have been impressed vividly by the experiences they have just been through, but the mining strain is obstinate and all but a few will descend again into the earth with carbide lamp, pick and dinner bucket.

Those in other callings wonder at their courage. But the risks they run are "part of the game" as an official of the Oliver Mining Company commented shortly after the miners had been saved. There is no other explanation.

Pronounced well on the way to recovery, the 43 men left the Fairview hospital here Thursday evening and returned to their homes, some still weak.

An investigation of the cave-in, which cost the lives of three men, who were crushed to death in a mine cage, will be "welcomed" by the mining company. Its officials said, in response to the demand of the Ashland (Wis.) Press for a federal inquiry.

John W. Chapple, managing editor of the newspaper, charged that the mining company, had neglected to take precautions for the safety of the mine.

Colonel A. S. Williams,
'Cocktail Case' Defendant,
Drowned in Frisco Bay

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—Colonel Alexander S. Williams, U. S. Marine corps, defendant in the General Butler "cocktail case," was drowned here early today when his automobile plunged into San Francisco bay from the Embarcadero.

His body, recovered after several hours work, was identified by papers in his pockets. He was lodged behind the wheel of the car, which plunged into 30 feet of water. Williams left home last night to attend a dinner, telling his wife he would be late in returning home. She identified the body at the morgue.

and he was carried to the scaffold where the hanging was carried out. Vitteere was pronounced dead in six minutes.

The last words he spoke were in abuse of the officers and the judge and jury who had found him guilty and sentenced him.

CREW OF 50 IMPERILLED ON NEW BRITAIN

FIRE IN HOLD SO BAD, PORT AND STARBOARD PLATES
BUCKLING

BURNING BOAT LAST REPORTED
270 MILES FROM HER GOAL
OF SAFETY

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The steel screw oil burner New Britain bearing an inflammable cargo and carrying a crew of 50 men, was burning at sea and racing for the port of Savannah early today, according to radio messages picked up here.

Captain Slatery reported the fire was so bad in the hold of the freighter that her port and starboard plates were buckling. The burning boat was 270 miles southeast of her goal and making 11 knots an hour.

The New Britain is a 5,174 ton freighter owned by the Great North Western Shipping Corporation. On this trip was bound for San Diego from Philadelphia under charter to the Williams steamship line.

FURMORE STEAMS TO
AID OF NEW BRITAIN

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 1.—The crew of the freighter New Britain will be rescued by the steamship Furmore, if the fire menace on the New Britain grows more critical, the Furmore advised the United States naval radio station here early today.

The Furmore is following the New Britain towards this port.

Three fire boats are ready in Savannah to fight the flames when the ship enters port. It is impossible to fight the fire on the open sea. If the hatches are opened, the ship may be engulfed in flames, according to radio messages from Captain Slatery.

The coast guard cutter Soneca and an Atlantic Towing Company tug are en route to meet the burning boat.

No lives have been lost, according to radio messages.

FIRE REPORTED
UNDER CONTROL

Washington, Oct. 1.—Fire aboard the steamer New Britain off Savannah, Ga., is under control and she no longer needs escort, the navy department was advised today by the transport Chaumont. The Chaumont got in touch with the burning ship racing for port during the night and ascertaining she needed no aid, proceeded on her way to Guantanamo.

ALL ARE PUT TO WORK

Saved by Crawling Under Truck Filled With Bags of Flour

Mrs. P. A. McGarry has received the following letter from her brother, T. W. Kretzchmar, formerly of Brainerd, of Hollywood, Fla., which gives some interesting accounts of the recent hurricane which devastated Hollywood, Miami and other cities.

"I hope you received my message, that I was safe and alive. I can thank God for sparing my life, because we were so near death several times. It was a terrible storm, one can not believe it, unless having seen it with their own eyes. There isn't a home in Hollywood that isn't damaged, somewhat, and it sure is remarkable and wonderful, the way that the people are being taken care of. Money won't buy a thing, everything is free, but of course under martial law. The women and children are being sent North, transportation, free.

"Every able bodied man has to work, rich or poor, and the rich have no better food than the poor and every one has to stand in line to get their portion of food.

"You should see my Ford, nothing left but the frame, seat and tires, I have been busy with it every day since the storm—and a few nights too.

"I am an orderly at the hospital and believe me I am only too glad to be able to take care of the wounded and run errands for the doctors and nurses. You can imagine what we went through, the first days, without water, milk and bread. We had enough crackers and canned milk to get along with until we got water from outside towns that weren't hurt by the storm. Conditions are getting better every day.

"Now I am going to tell you how we got out of it (the storm). There were five of us living in an apartment and about 3 o'clock in the morning the wind began to get strong and we had planned to go out to the ocean to look at the big waves, when he had the report that the storm was going to hit Hollywood about 12 o'clock that night and we assumed that it would be another wind storm like we had a month ago, you remember me writing about that one?

"Anyway, like lazy boys, we didn't go at 12 o'clock. At 3 o'clock I woke up with a bang, for next door, a house went over and our building was shaking something terrible. We decided to go out to a low garage where the Campbell Grocery Co. kept their trucks and my room mate who works for the grocery Co. said there was a truck load of flour in there, so we decided to crawl under it if we could. It was only a short distance but the timber and other stuff was flying in the air something fierce. We made up our minds to try the truck because the apartment was a big building and ready to go any minute. We went out and all got there safe but we had no more than crawled under the truck when away flew the garage that we had been in. The truck nearly went with it, but luckily it fell back to the ground. We stayed under this truck for five hours thinking any minute it would go, but some Power above must have held it.

"All this time that we were under the truck, it was raining and the waves from the ocean were coming over the banks and I want to tell you that we sure did freeze. The wind hadn't stopped blowing yet and I absolutely could not stand it anymore, I had to move around a little. You see we didn't have sense enough to dress the way we should have in preparation for such a storm. And folks, the apartment we lived in remained standing, the roof blew off and one corner of the wall, otherwise it weathered the storm pretty well. I went back in to the building and lo and behold! it was full of other people from other houses that had blown away. Then I realized how terrible the storm was and knew that there were hundreds of people that needed help and by this time most everything that was to blow away had already gone, so we went out into the wind to look for people. I had a very good friend from Pennsylvania who had a family and an aged grandmother staying with him. I could imagine he needed help and when I got to his home, where it should have been, it wasn't there. I have never undergone such a feeling in my life as when seeing that empty space. I thought I had better go to the Police station which was only a few blocks off and on my way over I had to cross the R. R. tracks. Several cars had blown over but a few were left standing and sure enough there was the whole family I had been looking for besides many others. The cars had been loaded with cement and therefore didn't blow over. I want to tell you that it sure was a joyful meeting and there were many other meetings the remainder of that day and those following, when one met friends. Greetings were such as this, "Happy to see you and how did you get out of it alive?" "You undoubtedly have read the death lists. Roy G. Coleman and Tom Dwyers were very good friends of mine, in fact, Coleman used to room with us. He was a prince of a man only 23 years old, a house fell on him while he ran from his home and Tom Dwyers, drowned.

"The Red Cross sure is doing wonderful work and in fact everything is getting along fine considering the inconvenience of everything. There is no power, lights, water (city water I mean) telephones, postoffice, telegraph stations, nothing at all. Everything is coming fine, temporary places are being put up fast. We had church services outside in the park today.

"I think I will stay here this winter. This sure is a dead place, all women and children were sent north for a few weeks until we get things straightened up. Men couldn't go if they wanted to, everyone, rich and poor must get to work.

"I am going to be vaccinated for typhoid fever tomorrow. So far no sickness has been in evidence and believe me we are doing everything to prevent it. Each man is his own sanitary keeper and if a man neglects his duty he is immediately reported."

Fox Films Epic of Land Rush of '70s Masterly Production

"Make it greater even than 'The Iron Horse'—if you can," said William Fox to John Ford, the noted director of the Fox masterpiece of the building of the first trans-continental railroad. And with that admonition in mind Mr. Ford took fifteen thousand people and went to the Teton Country of Wyoming, built a shack and tent city in exact reproduction of the town of Custer of 1877 and began the tremendous task of picturizing the thrilling motion picture story that will come forth under the intriguing title, "3 Bad Men," at the New Park Theatre on Saturday and Sunday.

A film drama that will tug at the heartstrings and leave an indelible impression on the minds of those who see it, is "Mismates," the first National photoplay which is now showing at the Lyceum Theatre.

We see Doris Kenyon at her screen best in this picture. This young woman is one of the finest actresses of the screen in roles that call for the most highly emotional acting.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

H. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

Amazing Lumber

saves 1/3 your fuel money

Trend of Anthracite Coal Prices at the Mine

Chart showing average price of anthracite coal per ton at the mine, from 1910 to 1936. Retail prices follow this basic trend. Look ahead. Fuel costs are rising fast. When you build or buy a house, you contract to heat it for years to come. What will your coal, oil or gas bill be in 1936?

HOW much do you pay for wasted fuel each year?

Careful tests by heating engineers show that from 25% to 35% of furnace heat is needlessly wasted through solid walls and roofs.

That is because wood lumber, masonry and other usual wall and roof materials, when used alone, offer too little resistance to the passage of heat and cold.

This great waste of fuel can now be stopped! An amazing heat-stopping lumber is available for every home, new or old.

This amazing lumber is Celotex. It is not cut from trees, but manufactured in broad, strong boards from the tough fibres of cane.

It is enduring . . . scientifically sterilized and waterproofed. Celotex is stronger in walls than wood lumber and many times better as insulation. Wind and moisture can not penetrate it. It quiets noise.

COSTS LITTLE or nothing to use. Unlike ordinary insulation, Celotex is not an extra item in building. Wherever used, it replaces other materials, adding insulation at little or no extra cost.

With the walls and ceilings or roof of your house covered with Celotex a smaller, less expensive heating plant and smaller radiators will keep you comfortable. And year after year, Celotex will save from 25% to 35% of your fuel bill!

NEW COMFORT for old houses. In houses already built, a big measure of this comfort and economy is being secured by lining attics and basements with Celotex.

Let us tell you more about Celotex before you build or buy.

AS SHEATHING Celotex supplies the insulation needed back of brick, wood or stucco exteriors.

UNDER PLASTER On inside walls and ceilings, plaster is applied directly to the surface of Celotex.

IN THE ROOF Celotex applied over or under roof rafters gives protection where it is most needed.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1926

H. Z. MITCHELL IN ILLINOIS

H. Z. MITCHELL, editor of the Bemidji Sentinel, is at Champaign, Illinois, where he addressed the Illinois Editorial Association meeting and analyzed the future of the country editor.

Mr. Mitchell has seen all angles of the field of country newspapers and so is qualified to speak as an authority. His address carried many of the points he voiced when he recently spoke to the Rotary club at Brainerd.

"It is no distinction to be a country editor. Seven out of the 10 men we meet, recall their country editor days," said Mr. Mitchell.

"The editorial sanctum of a country paper might often be termed 'The Port of Misfit Men.' It has been the haven of the unsuccessful minister, who tired of fighting sin decided to give the devil his dues; the disgruntled politician who seeks a vent through which to discharge his spleen, and the lawyer who lacks a bar at which to practice and the ambitious school teacher.

"The arrival of our fairy godmother, the war, changed our viewpoint, for the increased prosperity in all lines of business reflected itself in the country newspaper office. Our appearance improved and we proved attractive to the fairy prince, the ultimate consumer, whose will is law. There is apparently need for some more efficient manner through which to call our qualifications to the attention of advertisers. We must make ourselves so firmly a part of the merchandising system that no introductory campaign will ever be attempted without considering the home town paper.

"Manufacturers of nationally advertised goods are realizing that there is a missing link. If I were the manufacturer of any nationally advertised product, I would instruct my salesmen to get as well acquainted with the editor of the newspaper in his territory as he does with the dealers. I would see to it that every advertising proposition I worked out was presented to the newspaper as soon as it was sent out to the dealer.

"Make a study of your own field," counselled Mr. Mitchell. "Learn merchandising methods as they apply to your stores; get acquainted with your advertisers until they seek your advice about advertising as they do their bankers about finances; let the people they are doing business with know that you are interested in helping solve the sales problem and let them know that your cooperation means something. If you are proud of your paper send copies to the manufacturers with a letter telling why you are proud of it."

The address of Mr. Mitchell was given wide publicity by the Associated Press.

LESS TAXES TO PAY

WITH Governor Christianson at the head of government in Minnesota we are assured of less taxes to pay. This comes with peculiar force in October, the month we all dig down in our jeans and pay the last half of our taxes at the court house.

Anent the governor's keynote speech at Fergus Falls, the St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press has this to say:

As the first term in office of Governor Christianson nears its end the results of his business like administration are showing themselves in reduced taxation. This is partly due to a determined effort on the part of the governor to cut all waste and partly to the adoption of the budget system which is administered by the so-called "Big Three." A reduction in the state tax of 2.3 mills does not mean much until you reduce it to dollars and cents. You then discover that it represents the tidy sum of $3,150,000 and that is quite a little item to save the taxpayers of the state. A continuation of the wise policies adopted by the governor will result in greater savings in the future. The adoption of the budget system, of course, raised a great howl from those who were profiting by unnecessary expenditures but in the light of developments it is hardly likely that the rank and file will assist them in their efforts to upset existing conditions. An administration that saves the people money is one to be retained in office.

THE WORLD REJOICES

THE world rejoices to hear of the rescuing of 43 men from the cave in at the Ironwood, Michigan, mine. And the near disaster comes close to us. It is reported that a son of Carl Wheeler of Oak Lawn township was working in the mine and was among those rescued alive. So far, however, no list of men's names has been given for verification.

G. A. Erickson, a brother of Ernest Erickson of Crosby, has been captain of the Pabst mine for a number of years.

OUT in the Dakotas they have great ideas about sports. They celebrated the anniversary of Black Hills mining camp and added a touch of color in this unique way, all the men letting their whiskers grow to look more like old timers. And now come Dakota Wesleyan co-eds who are to suffer for the next 32 days. Upper Wesleyan have decreed a new method of torment for the girls, who will not be permitted to use cosmetics or substitutes. And the freshmen have been ordered to raise mustaches. It's a wonder the beauty parlors and barber shops do not rebel against losing so much good trade.

ALBANY, MINN., celebrated the completion of its paving link and had an array of speakers including C. M. Babcock and many candidates for congress as well as a noted churchman. The Brainerd pavement celebration is marking time, for the first essential, the exact date of completion, is unknown. General sentiment seems to favor deferring our celebration until early spring when the paving and the opening of the tourist season can be made the groundwork of a huge double-barreled celebration.

PROGRESS is evident among our contemporaries of the county. The Crosby Courier has installed and is now operating a new Intertype. Theodore G. Johnson is publishing a good paper and the business men are according him fine support.

A REPORTER of the New York World after years of experience says that nine out of ten people are truthful. We wonder if his experience parallels that of lawyers examining witnesses.

THE Grand Army of the Republic is getting along in years, but nobody ever expects the boys to adopt a motion to disband.

MRS. HENRY STETSON ENTERS FINALS IN WOMEN'S GOLF PLAY

Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, entered the finals of the national women's golf championship today by defeating Miss Virginia Wilson, Chicago, the lone western survivor in the tournament.

The match was fought out to an extra hole and Mrs. Stetson won on the 19th.

Mrs. Stetson will meet in the finals tomorrow with Mrs. Wright Goss, Jr., of Newark, N. J., and the title must remain in the east.

Mrs. Goss defeated Mrs. Cortland Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the other semi-final match 3 and 2.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1926

H. Z. MITCHELL IN ILLINOIS

H. Z. MITCHELL, editor of the Bemidji Sentinel, is at Champaign, Illinois, where he addressed the Illinois Editorial Association meeting and analyzed the future of the country editor.

Mr. Mitchell has seen all angles of the field of country newspapers and so is qualified to speak as an authority. His address carried many of the points he voiced when he recently spoke to the Rotary club at Brainerd.

"It is no distinction to be a country editor. Seven out of the 10 men we meet, recall their country editor days," said Mr. Mitchell.

"The editorial sanctum of a country paper might often be termed 'The Port of Misfit Men.' It has been the haven of the unsuccessful minister, who tired of fighting sin decided to give the devil his dues; the disgruntled politician who seeks a vent through which to discharge his spleen, and the lawyer who lacks a bar at which to practice and the ambitious school teacher.

"The arrival of our fairy godmother, the war, changed our viewpoint, for the increased prosperity in all lines of business reflected itself in the country newspaper office. Our appearance improved and we proved attractive to the fairy prince, the ultimate consumer, whose will is law. There is apparently need for some more efficient manner through which to call our qualifications to the attention of advertisers. We must make ourselves so firmly a part of the merchandising system that no introductory campaign will ever be attempted without considering the home town paper.

"Manufacturers of nationally advertised goods are realizing that there is a missing link. If I were the manufacturer of any nationally advertised product, I would instruct my salesmen to get as well acquainted with the editor of the newspaper in his territory as he does with the dealers. I would see to it that every advertising proposition I worked out was presented to the newspaper as soon as it was sent out to the dealer.

"Make a study of your own field," counseled Mr. Mitchell. "Learn merchandising methods as they apply to your stores; get acquainted with your advertisers until they seek your advice about advertising as they do their bankers about finances; let the people they are doing business with know that you are interested in helping solve the sales problem and let them know that your cooperation means something. If you are proud of your paper send copies to the manufacturers with a letter telling why you are proud of it."

The address of Mr. Mitchell was given wide publicity by the Associated Press.

LESS TAXES TO PAY

WITH Governor Christianson at the head of government in Minnesota we are assured of less taxes to pay. This comes with peculiar force in October, the month we all dig down in our jeans and pay the last half of our taxes at the court house.

Anent the governor's keynote speech at Fergus Falls, the St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press has this to say:

As the first term in office of Governor Christianson nears its end the results of his business like administration are showing themselves in reduced taxation. This is partly due to a determined effort on the part of the governor to cut all waste and partly to the adoption of the budget system which is administered by the so-called "Big Three." A reduction in the state tax of 2.3 mills does not mean much until you reduce it to dollars and cents. You then discover that it represents the tidy sum of $3,150,000 and that is quite a little item to save the taxpayers of the state. A continuation of the wise policies adopted by the governor will result in greater savings in the future. The adoption of the budget system, of course, raised a great howl from those who were profiting by unnecessary expenditures but in the light of developments it is hardly likely that the rank and file will assist them in their efforts to upset existing conditions. An administration that saves the people money is one to be retained in office.

THE WORLD REJOICES

THE world rejoices to hear of the rescuing of 43 men from the cave-in at the Ironwood, Michigan, mine. And the near disaster comes close to us. It is reported that a son of Carl Wheeler of Oak Lawn township was working in the mine and was among those rescued alive. So far, however, no list of men's names has been given for verification.

G. A. Erickson, a brother of Ernest Erickson of Crosby, has been captain of the Pabst mine for a number of years.

OUT in the Dakotas they have great ideas about sports. They celebrated the anniversary of Black Hills mining camp and added a touch of color in this unique way, all the men letting their whiskers grow to look more like old timers. And now come Dakota Wesleyan co-eds who are to suffer for the next 32 days. Upper classmen have decreed a new method of torment for the girls, who will not be permitted to use cosmetics or substitutes. And the freshmen have been ordered to raise mustaches. It's a wonder the beauty parlors and barber shops do not rebel against losing so much good trade.

ALBANY, MINN., celebrated the completion of its paving link and had an array of speakers including C. M. Babcock and many candidates for congress as well as a noted churchman. The Brainerd pavement celebration is marking time, for the first essential, the exact date of completion, is unknown. General sentiment seems to favor deferring our celebration until early spring when the paving and the opening of the tourist season can be made the groundwork of a huge double-barreled celebration.

PROGRESS is evident among our contemporaries of the county. The Crosby Courier has installed and is now operating a new Intertype. Theodore G. Johnson is publishing a good paper and the business men are according him fine support.

A REPORTER of the New York World after years of experience says that nine out of ten people are truthful. We wonder if his experience parallels that of lawyers examining witnesses.

THE Grand Army of the Republic is getting along in years, but nobody ever expects the boys to adopt a motion to disband.

SECOND GAME OF THE CHICAGO CITY SERIES

By CLARK B. KELSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
Cubs Park, Chicago, Oct. 1.—The White Sox invaded Cubs Park this afternoon determined to even the count in Chicago's post season city series. The Cubs won the first game of the series, 6 to 0, Wednesday when Charlie Root shut out the Sox with four well scattered hits. Since then rain and wet grounds has postponed the second game until today. The White Sox sent Ted Lyons to the mound in an effort to stop the slugging National Leaguers. Tony Kaufmann pitched for the Cubs.

FIRST INNING

White Sox—Mostil walked. Morehart sacrificed, Adams tossing him out at first. Barrett bounced a hot liner off Kaufmann's glove and was safe at first, Mostil taking third. Sheely flied to Kelly and Mostil scored. Falk singled through Adams, Barrett taking second. Kamm singled, scoring Barrett. Crouse flied to Wilson. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING

White Sox—Berg drew a pass. Lyons hit into a double play, Adams to Cooney to Grimm. Mostil popped to Adams. No runs, no hits, no errors. Cubs—Cooney smashed a single over second. Kamm snagged Hart-nett's high infield fly. Kaufmann forced Cooney, Berg to. Morehart. Adams flied to Falk. No runs, one hit, no errors.

THIRD INNING

White Sox—Morehart popped to Adams. Barrett was out. Adams to Grimm. Sheely singled over Cooney. Falk walked. Kamm fouled to Hartnett. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cubs—Heathcote flied to Morehart. Kelly bounced out, Lyons to Sheely. Berg threw out Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

White Sox—Kaufmann passed Crouse. Crouse was out stealing. Hartnett to Cooney. Adams threw out Berg. Adams tossed out Lyons. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cubs—Grimm fanned. Freigau singled to center. Morehart tossed out Cooney, Freigau stopping at second. Hartnett popped to Sheely. No runs, one hit, no errors.

MRS. HENRY STETSON ENTERS FINALS IN WOMEN'S GOLF PLAY

Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, entered the finals of the national women's golf championship today by defeating Miss Virginia Wilson, Chicago, the lone western survivor in the tournament.

The match was fought out to an extra hole and Mrs. Stetson won on the 19th.

Mrs. Stetson will meet in the finals tomorrow with Mrs. Wright Goss, Jr., of Newark, N. J., and the title must remain in the east.

Mrs. Goss defeated Mrs. Cortland Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the other semi-final match 3 and 2.

New Color-Tones in Barthelmess Picture

Film fans who visit the Lyceum Sunday or Monday and witness the performance of "The Amateur Gentleman," the picture starring Richard Barthelmess, will note a new photographic tone in the screen version of Jeffery Farnol's romantic novel of the Regency period.

Richard Barthelmess, Sidney Olcott, the director, Col. G. L. McDonnell, the technical advisor, and D. W. Gobbett, the cinematographer, studied the photographic qualities of the colors of the costumes and with carefully studied backgrounds and lighting effects secured what is termed an "orthochromatic" effect in the photography of "The Amateur Gentleman" with tones of browns, sepia and yellows actually on the screen.

Brainerd Testimonials

Brainerd, Minn. Sept. 30, 1926.
Everett, Aughenbaugh & Co.,
526 Security Bldg., Minneapolis,

In the forty years that I have been baking bread, I have never found a flour to compare with the E-A-CO Flour. It bakes quicker, bakes a prettier brown color than most flours, and has such a good nutty taste.

I also find it very good for cake baking, doing away with the necessity of using a special cake flour. I also find it more economical as 3/4 of a cup of E-A-CO Flour equals one cup of any other flour.

I have made Home Baking my business for some time and have had a chance to try out a great many flours, and am glad to recommend E-A-CO Flour as the best I have ever used.

Very sincerely,

MRS. GEO. D. MAHOOD,

It gives me great pleasure to send you this testimonial. I have baked for thirty-five years and in that length of time and experience used many brands of flour. I do truthfully say that in all those years I have never found a flour to equal E-A-CO. It is in a class all by itself. I shall be glad to recommend it to others at all times.

Sincerely,

New Color-Tones in Barthelmess Picture

Film fans who visit the Lyceum Sunday or Monday and witness the performance of "The Amateur Gentleman," the picture starring Richard Barthelmess, will note a new photographic tone in the screen version of Jeffery Farnol's romantic novel of the Regency period.

Richard Barthelmess, Sidney Olcott, the director, Col. G. L. McDonnell, the technical advisor, and D. W. Gobbett, the cinematographer, studied the photographic qualities of the colors of the costumes and with carefully studied backgrounds and lighting effects secured what is termed an "orthochromatic" effect in the photography of "The Amateur Gentleman" with tones of browns, sepia and yellows actually on the screen.

Brainerd Testimonials

Everett, Aughenbaugh & Co.,
526 Security Bldg., Minneapolis,

In the forty years that I have been baking bread, I have never found a flour to compare with the E-A-CO Flour. It bakes quicker, bakes a prettier brown color than most flours, and has such a good nutty taste.

I also find it very good for cake baking, doing away with the necessity of using a special cake flour. I also find it more economical as 3/4 of a cup of E-A-CO Flour equals one cup of any other flour.

I have made Home Baking my business for some time and have had a chance to try out a great many flours, and am glad to recommend E-A-CO Flour as the best I have ever used.

Very sincerely,
MRS. GEO. D. MAHOOD,

CARDINALS RULE AS SLIGHT FAVORITES

HANK FARRELL, HOWEVER, IS A POOR PICKER

YANKEES CLAIMED TO HAVE MORE EXPERIENCE, BUT NOT SPARK OF YOUTH

CARDINALS ARE INFLAMED WITH THE FIRE OF AMBITION

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 1.—After having guessed wrong on the channel swims, Bill Tilden, Bobby Jones, Jack Dempsey and Glenna Collett, the writer hesitates to place a jinx on one of the teams in the world series by picking it to win.

"I hope all you Dempsey pickers
in there fall behind the Cardinals and we're sure to win," Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, shot at a group of newspapermen in a box at the stadium yesterday.

Considering everything, however,
technical, physical and moral qualifications, the St. Louis Cardinals are picked as a slight favorite to beat the American League champions in a series that may go the limit. It's almost a sure bet that it will not be over in four games.

The Yankees have the advantage in the outfield, the Cardinals have the advantage slightly in the infield, the Cardinals have a big margin behind the bat and they have more good pitchers than the Yankees. But there is no way to tell that Waite Hoyt and Sam Jones, who have not been going so well, will not return to form.

The Yankees have more experience
but they have not the spark of youth and fire of ambition that brought the Cardinals through a terrific fight to win the first pennant that St. Louis has ever seen.

Tragedy, as it descended upon the St. Louis club with the death of the mother of Rogers Hornsby, may prove an inspiration instead of a spirit breaking blow.

The club will be playing for "Ray"
and will be playing its head off because the boys know what a terrific sacrifice their young manager made to stay with them and help them in their greatest battle.

"We played ball for him all season," one of the St. Louis players said, "and now under the most distressing circumstances he's playing ball for us. I don't see how we can lose."

The case is mindful of the tragedy that hit the Cleveland Indians in 1920, when in the heat of a torrid pennant race, Ray Chapman, a star shortstop, was killed by a pitched ball. It was a blow that would have killed a less stout hearted club, especially when Manager Tris Speaker had to grab Joe Sewell, an untried youngster, from a college diamond and thrust him into the most vital position on the club. The team won the pennant and the world's championship and young Sewell was one of the real heroes of the series.

A very smart baseball man, travelling with the Yankees, said that the Dempsey-Tunney fight saved the pennant for the Yankees. The club was in a horrible slump and a commanding lead melted away almost to nothing. The day before the fight, they started talking and arguing fight and got their minds off baseball. The day of the fight and the day after they talked nothing but fight in the hotel and with the strain relieved they started to play baseball.

The grief of Hornsby has taken much of the strain off the St. Louis club. They have not been thinking or worrying about baseball and they may be in much better moral condition than the Yankees when they go into the field.

It may be an injustice to hang a curse on the Cardinals by picking them to win in a season that has marked the fall of one great favorite after another, but it looks like they ought to win.

Anyway the championship will remain in America.

ENGLISH GIRL GIVES UP HER CHANNEL SWIM

Dover, England, Oct. 1.—(UP)—
Miss E. L. Marriott of England abandoned her fourth attempt to swim the when she was within three miles of her goal.

Miss Marriott left Cape Gris Nez, France, under favorable conditions yesterday afternoon at 3:20 and was reported swimming strong throughout the night until the coldness of the water forced her to give up.

Miss Marriott used the name of Jane Darwin for swimming purposes.

'WE'RE A CINCH TO WIN THE WORLD'S SERIES,' SAYS RUTH

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—
"We're a cinch to win the world's series," Babe Ruth, star Yankee fielder and the only player who has appeared in seven world series, said today.

"You birds laughed at me down south last spring, when I said the Yankees would win the pennant and you may laugh at me when I say we'll beat the Cardinals because I see they're the favorites in the betting," the Babe said.
"We've got too much pitching and hitting and we know every blade of grass in both ball parks."

The Babe is limping from a slightly sprained ankle that is bound in heavy tape. But he said he would play "if I have to go in on one leg."

SHOWERS FORECAST FOR OPENING GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Showers were forecast today for the opening game of the world series. The weather man heaped uncertainty upon other troubles including a dearth of reserved seat tickets, jammed hotels, scalpers' prices and Babe Ruth's swollen ankle.

The New York Yankees and the St.
Louis Cardinals, champions of the American and National leagues, respectively, will clash at 1:30 p. m.
eastern standard time, in the Yankee stadium tomorrow afternoon for the world's championship of the baseball world, weather permitting.

The weather man said showers were probable. If there are light showers tomorrow morning and it does not rain hard, the playing field will be uncovered and the opening game will be played.

DEANE MARTIUS SEEGER WITH GARRICK PLAYERS

Graduated From the Brainerd High School in 1925 at Age of 16 Years

TO APPEAR IN PLAYS

Will Make Debut With Dramatists of Lake Forest College

Deane Martius Seeger, son of F. Seeger, who is a sophomore at Lake Forest college, Lake Forest, Ill., will make his debut with the Garrick Players of that school, on Oct. 16, in their first presentation of the season, "Three Live Ghosts."

The Garrick Players, one of the most outstanding little theatre groups in the midwest, begin this fall their twenty-fifth season. Their repertoire includes "Liliom" by the famous Hungarian playwright, Ferenc Molnar, Zola Gals' "Miss Lulu Bett," "The Romantic Young Lady," by the Spanish writer, Martinez Sierra, "The Pigeon," by John Galsworthy, "The Professor's Love Story," by Sir James Barrie.

Among the classics scheduled for production are Sheridan's "School for Scandal," the old morality, "Everyman," and an out-door presentation of "Rip van Winkle."

The freshmen this year will, because of the unusually large number enrolled in Professor Leverton's class in Play Production, be presented by the Players in three plays: "The Romantic Young Lady," "The Youngest," and "Zander the Great." Deane is a sophomore in college, and spent most of his summer working in Lake Forest. He had a brief vacation in Brainerd a week before school opened in Lake Forest.

In "Three Live Ghosts" he has the role of a young American soldier in England, just after the war, who has been officially declared dead, but who comes to life with two other "live Ghosts"—thus evolving the plot of the play.

This spring, on their annual tour, the Players will play through Wisconsin and perhaps up into lower Minnesota.

"Martius" as he was familiarly known here made his home with Mrs. Irma Camp Hartley, county superintendent of schools and graduated with high honors, at the age of 16 years, from the local high school, class of '25.

He was very active in scholastic affairs, and was one of the star forwards on the second team in basketball. He was prominent in declamation circles and took part in several stage presentations, both in and out of school.

Since entering Lake Forest he has kept up his high standards and was the only freshman to see his short story in print in the opening number of one of the major college publications.

Tracked by the Police

Novel by William B. Courtney

Copyright, 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"TRACKED BY THE POLICE," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Among the things that have sustained Jimmy Ford through the horrors of war in France are letters from his sweetheart, Ruth Allen. One of these letters, which tells of the attention Dan Murlagh, a politician, pays her in Jimmy's absence. In his heartbreak he volunteers for a dangerous raid. A German war dog gives her life to save his. Jimmy, in gratitude, adopts her puppy, and smuggles it home after the war. Jimmy's father, a police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the Force to avenge him; and has an able ally in Rin-Tin-Tin, now full-grown.

But being a "one man dog" put no limitations upon the number of women a shaggy fellow might cherish, so Rinty wholeheartedly loved two of the sex—Widow Ford and Ruth Allen. The first with dignity, the second with off-hand condescension. Of course for the present Rinty's innate modesty—to say nothing of convenience—kept him from adding Ruth to his list of morning calls; but he had hopes!

Mrs. Ford, though, was on his list, last, but not least. Rinty awoke her now, not by the delicate process of pulling off the covers, nor the coarse method of barking, nor yet by roughly playing nips, but by gently muzzling the hand she habitually flung lonesomely over the space where her Jim used to sleep in the bed beside her. A compassionate and understanding touch that Rinty had taught himself.

Breakfast in the Ford home. The widow fussing lovingly over the preparation of toast and bacon and eggs and coffee, while Rinty played alternately valet to Jimmy and pet to the mother, and lazy and fat and wheezy Flaherty shifted for himself, so far as Rinty was concerned.

Rinty placed the cap upon the young bluecoat's head.

Not that Rinty and Flaherty were enemies; the head man, who was next on the promotion list for a sergeant and had already anticipated his appointment by attaining the "bay window" behind and above which all good police sergeants confront a derisive and disorderly world, really loved the giant dog. Rinty unemotionally tolerated Flaherty—liked him even except for his borsome and unbecoming habit of pulling a fellow's hair and wanting to "shake hands" every minute when there was really no social necessity of shaking hands.

It was thus every morning: "Rinty, fetch my shoes," from Jimmy. "Rinty, good boy, here's an egg-shell for you," from the widow. Rinty loved eggshells. Possibly because they sounded so nice in the chewing. "Here, Rinty, shake hands," from Flaherty.

Before Flaherty had more than one side of his face shaved Jimmy and Rinty were fed and spruced up and ready to depart. They always left half an hour earlier than need be—these two pals who shared not only the dangers and innumerable emergencies of the daily guarding of the sidewalks of New York, but the love of Ruth Allen too. Which is why they left ahead of time—so that they might have the opportunity of visiting with Ruth for a few cherished minutes each morning, noon or night, whatever hour Jimmy's assignment took him and Rinty forth. Of course these precious fragments of daily meetings—holding hands there at the top of the frayed carpeted stairs in the dim upper hallway, while Rinty thumped muffled approval on the ancient Axminster—were in addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday and Sunday night courtship. That is, in so far as these old-fashioned sweetheart evenings could be accommodated to the varying hours of Jimmy's cop duty. Some months, with Jimmy on night work, Wednesday night would take place on Saturday morning—in the social scheme of Ruth and Rinty and him. 'Tis a matter of small convenience to be the sweetie of a cop!

So this morning, as on all other mornings, Rinty and Jimmy bade goodbye to Mother Ford. And in no way her household in New York, or the whole land, or any other land, did there ever take place such uncommon and withal charming ceremonies as in this modest and love-blessed little home in old Chelsea.

The scraping back of Jimmy's chair as he uprose from the savory breakfast table was an electric signal that galvanized Rinty into swift and joyous action, punctuated with short clipped yelps of eagerness and delight. With a bound and a leap he seized Jimmy's blue cap from its hook on the back of the kitchen door. Prancing with an awkward grace that made his actions seem quaintly puppy-like, Rinty then stood on his hind feet and placed the cap upon the young bluecoat's head. So gigantic was Rinty that he could still have done this stunt had Jimmy been a head taller. Rinty always put the cap on backwards—deliberately—because he loved to hear Jimmy scold; loved to duck the heavy hand that Jimmy swooped playfully at his head—duck it as a fencer or a skilled boxer would, for the next minute his teeth flashed in from the side and closed with a mock ferocious growl over Jimmy's head. Another swipe, and Rinty was away with a bound to open the kitchen door, a feat that afforded him a good deal of pride in the doing, but not much real difficulty, so agilely did his teeth and his padded paws work in harmony with his smart canine brain, the teeth gingerly turning the key and sliding the bolt, the forepaws clumsily, yet efficiently, turning the knob.

"Sure Rinty always reminds me of a man with boxing gloves on his hands," said Flaherty, who had been out a cottony mask of suds.

"If you had boxing gloves on those hands of yours you wouldn't be able to open doors except with an axe, so that makes Rinty smarter than you," teased Jimmy.

"There's more truth in poetry than appears to the eye," quoth Flaherty, who was always repeating proverbs and never got one straight.

The Widow Ford meantime stood as one apart and detached, looking at Jimmy with a fondness and an affectionate intensity that gave her sidelong framed face an aura of unearthliness, of premature spirituality. Jimmy felt the strange sanctification, yet could not fathom it; a more erudite and philosophic stranger might have thrilled at the apparent embodiment of furbroughed immortality in the manner in which she fondled and guided and guarded her boy with her eyes. Every soft look a prayer.

Rinty felt it. There his instinct served to bring him closer to the essential and fundamental truth than Jimmy's blundering masculine reason. Rinty knew it for the purest ray of serene motherly love. Consequently he trotted gently and with reverent dignity as he padded to the widow after he had opened the door. Up—up on his hind legs he reared, resting his paws so lightly on the little lady's frail shoulders that they never wrinkled even ever so slightly the prim gingham of her home wrapper. Then he thickly licked the cresting from wave of her hair, the tip of her ear, with his rough tongue, the while whispering her with his eyes. Then down and to the door to wait, his romping proclivities gradually coming back full blast as he champed through the final minute of Jimmy's departure. Rinty looked on and barked with approval while Jimmy kissed his mother. He knew what Jimmy did not know—that the kiss was a benediction, a breathed plea for his safe return.

For the widow had not forgotten—would never forget so long as the heart fluttered within her this breast—the other last goodbye, the other stark and silent return. Of her Jim—her always, always sweetheart. And when the door closed each morning now and shut Jimmy, the boy, from her vision her eyes turned involuntarily to the framed picture of Jim, the man, in the parlor and continued their loving feasting without cessation. For the latter had become the former to her. The boy was the father, the father the boy. The one lived on in the other.

Meanwhile in Jimmy Ford's still boyish heart there were less grave and spiritual things on tap as he betook himself on swift feet to the attic where dwelt his love. Rinty paced beside him, silently and alertly, and with an all-embracing dignity that befitted his position as the only accredited police dog in the Chelsea precinct, nay, on the whole island of Manhattan. His police shield dangled from his collar in prideful show. Not an untoward movement or side look detracted from the conscious outward bearing and inward appreciation of his important official position.

VINCENT RICHARDS HAS JOINED THE TENNIS PRO STARS

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY C. C. PYLE, EMPLOYER OF SUZANNE LENGLEN

"IT'S REALLY TOO BAD, IT SEEMS A SHAME," SAYS HELEN WILLS

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Astonishment and regret echoed today the announcement of C. C. Pyle, employer of "Red" Grange and Suzanne Lenglen, that Vincent Richards, who ranks with William T. Tilden as one of the two great American tennis players, has turned professional. The announcement was made at a dinner given Mlle Lenglen last night.

"It's really too bad," said Helen Wills, former national women's champion, at her home in Berkeley, Cal. "It seems a shame."

Tilden, who lost virtually his only rival with the defection of Richards to the professional ranks, regretted that Richards had not remained an amateur until American players had recovered their lost supremacy on the courts from France. Tilden was surprised when informed of Pyle's announcement at Great Neck, L. I.

Richards will go on tour with Suzanne Lenglen, the great French player; Mark K. Browne, Harvey Snodgrass and other stars pirated from the amateur ranks by Pyle. A week ago Richards denied any intention to turn professional, but admitted he was "doing it for the money, for my wife and my baby."

Pyle said he will announce the names of three more prominent stars Sunday who have signed contracts to play professional tennis in exhibitions over the country.

Miss Wills denied she was one of the stars.

"I am going to finish school," she declared. Miss Wills is a student at the University of California.

The shocked Tilden turned philosophical after considering the full import of Richards' decision.

"I believe that every player has a right to make his decision on the matter of professionalism," he said, "but I regret that Mr. Richards decided to turn professional before the American players had made a united effort to restore American supremacy in the amateur game. I wish him all success in his new venture and trust that it will prove profitable."

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist.

CHICAGO CITY SERIES FACES POSTPONEMENT

By CLARK B. KELSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Oct. 1.—A second day of heavy mist threatened a second postponement of the Chicago City Series, as the Chicago White Sox prepared to defend American league honors against the Chicago Cubs in the National league club's park here today.

Yesterday's game was postponed on account of rain, and will be played off next Tuesday. Consequently today's game is in the lap of the Cubs giving the McCarthy men the additional advantage of playing on the home lot. They already have a one game lead in the series.

Either Percy Jones or Guy Bush was slated to take the slab for the National leaguers, while the Colleague Ted Lyons was Boss Eddie Collins' nomination.

STOCKS SHOW IMPROVED TONE

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—With the passing of the October settlement period stocks developed a greatly improved tone today. In view of the fact that dividend and interest disbursement totalled approximately a half billion dollars good reinvestment demand was expected for standard industrials and rails and this anticipation was reflected in the more confident behavior of the general list.

United States Steel and General Motors, whose strength stimulated buoyancy in the industrial list the greater part of the summer, again fired speculative enthusiasm by resuming energetic forward movement.

Toward the close the market as a whole exhibited continued irregularity due to urgent selling of special issues like Mack Trucks, Warner Brothers and Continental Baking A. However, pivotal issues continued to act well and closing prices showed general advances.

The market closed higher.

Tracked by the Police

Novel by William B. Courtney

Copyright, 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"TRACKED BY THE POLICE," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Among the things that have sustained Jimmy Ford through the horrors of war in France are letters from his sweetheart, Ruth Allen. One of these letters upsets him, because it tells of the attention Dan Murtagh, a politician, pays her in Jimmy's absence. In his heartbreak he volunteers for a dangerous raid. A German war dog gives her life to save his. Jimmy, in gratitude, adopts her puppy, and smuggles it home after the war. Jimmy's father, a police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the Force to avenge him; and has an able ally in Rin-Tin-Tin, now full-grown.

But being a "one man dog" put no limitations upon the number of women a shaggy fellow might cherish, so Rinty wholeheartedly loved two of the sex—Widow Ford and Ruth Allen. The first with dignity, the second with off-hand condescension. Of course for the present Rinty's innate modesty—to say nothing of convenience—kept him from adding Ruth to his list of morning calls; but he had hopes!

Mrs. Ford, though, was on his list, last, but not least. Rinty awoke her now, not by the indelicate process of pulling off the covers, nor the coarse method of barking, nor yet by roughly playing nips, but by gently muzzling the hand she habitually flung loosely over the space where her Jim used to sleep in the bed beside her. A compassionate and understanding touch that Rinty had taught himself.

Breakfast in the Ford home. The widow fussing lovingly over the preparation of toast and bacon and eggs and coffee, while Rinty played alternately valet to Jimmy and pet to the mother, and lazy and fat and wheezy Flaherty shifted for himself, so far as Rinty was concerned.

Rinty placed the cap upon the young bluecoat's head.

Not that Rinty and Flaherty were enemies; the beefy man, who was next on the promotion list for a sergeant and had already anticipated his appointment by attaining the "bay window" behind and above which all good police sergeants confront a derisive and disorderly world, really loved the giant dog. Rinty unemotionally tolerated Flaherty—liked him even except for his borsenome and uncouth habit of pulling a fellow's hair and waving "shako hands" every minute when there was really no social necessity of shaking hands.

It was thus every morning: "Rinty, fetch my shoes," from Jimmy. "Rinty, good boy, here's an eggshell for you," from the widow. Rinty loved eggshells. Possibly because they sounded so nice in the chewing. "Here, Rinty, shake hands," from Flaherty.

Before Flaherty had more than one side of his face shaved Jimmy and Rinty were fed and spruced up and ready to depart. They always left half an hour earlier than need be—these two pals who shared not only the dangers and innumerable emergencies of the daily guarding of the sidewalks of New York, but the love of Ruth Allen too. Which is why they left ahead of time—so that they might have the opportunity of visiting with Ruth for a few cherished minutes each morning, noon or night, whatever hour Jimmy's assignment took him and Rinty forth. Of course these precious fragments of daily meetings—holding hands there at the top of the frayed carpeted stairs in the dim upper hallway, while Rinty thumped muffled approval on the ancient Axminster—were in addition to the regular Wednesday and Saturday and Sunday night courtship. That is, in so far as those old-fashioned sweetheart evenings could be accommodated to the varying hours of Jimmy's cop duty. Some months, with Jimmy on night work, Wednesday night would take place on Saturday morning—in the social scheme of Ruth and Rinty and him. 'Tis a matter of small convenience to be the sweetie of a cop!

So this morning, as on all other mornings, Rinty and Jimmy bade goodbye to Mother Ford. And in no other household in New York, or the whole land, or any other land, did there ever take place such uncommon and withal charming ceremonies as in this modest and love-blessed little home in old Chelsea.

The scraping back of Jimmy's chair as he arose from the savory breakfast table was an electric signal that galvanized Rinty into swift and joyous action, punctuated with short clipped yelps of eagerness and delight. With a bound and a leap he seized Jimmy's blue cap from its hook on the back of the kitchen door. Prancing with an awkward grace that made his actions seem quaintly puppy-like, Rinty then stood on his hind feet and placed the cap upon the young bluecoat's head. So gigantic was Rinty that he could still have done this stunt had Jimmy been a head taller. Rinty always put the cap on backwards—deliberately—because he loved to hear Jimmy scold; loved to duck the heavy hand that Jimmy swooped playfully at his head—duck it as a fencer or a skilled boxer would, for the next minute his teeth flashed in from the side and closed with a mock ferocious growl over Jimmy's wrist. Another swipe from laughing Jimmy's free hand and Rinty was away with a bound to open the kitchen door, a feat that afforded him a good deal of pride in the doing, but not much real difficulty, so agilely did his teeth and his padded paws work in harmony with his smart canine brain, the teeth gingerly turning the key and sliding the bolt, the forepaws clutched, yet efficiently, turning the knob.

"Sure Rinty always reminds me of a man with boxing gloves when he's openin' that door," said Flaherty from out a cottony mask of mirth.

"If you had boxing gloves on those hams of yours you wouldn't be able to open doors except with an axe, so that makes Rinty smarter than you," teased Jimmy.

"There's more truth in poetry than appears to the eye," quoth Flaherty, who was always repeating proverbs and never got one straight.

The Widow Ford meantime stood as one apart and detached, looking at Jimmy with a fondness and an affectionate intensity that gave her silver framed face an aura of unearthliness, of premature spiritualization, yet could not fathom it; a more erudite and philosophic stranger might have thrilled at the apparent embodiment of furloughed immortality in the manner in which she fondled and gulped and guarded her boy with her eyes. Every soft look a prayer.

Rinty felt it. There his instinct served to bring him closer to the essential and fundamental truth than Jimmy's blundering masculine reason. Rinty knew it for the purest ray of serene mother love. Consequently he trotted gently and with reverent dignity as he padded to the widow after he had opened the door. Up—up—on his hind legs he reared, resting his paws so lightly on the little lady's frail shoulders that they never wrinkled even ever so slightly the prim gleam of her house wrap. Then he timidly licked at the cresting front wave of her hair, the tip of her ear, with his rough tongue, the while worshipping her with his eyes. Then down and to the door to wait, his romping precivities gradually coming back full blast as he champed through the final minute of Jimmy's departure.

Rinty looked on and barked with approval while Jimmy kissed his mother. He knew what Jimmy did not know, that the kiss was a benediction, a breathed plea for his safe return.

For the widow had not forgotten—would never forget so long as the heart fluttered within her this breast—the other last goodbye, the other stark and silent return. Of her Jim—her always, always sweetheart. And when the door closed each morning now and shut Jimmy, the boy, from her vision her eyes turned involuntarily to the framed picture of Jim, the man, in the parlor and continued their lovingly feasting without cessation. For the latter had become the former to her. The boy was the father, the father the boy. The one lived on in the other.

Meanwhile in Jimmy Ford's still boyish heart there were less grave and spiritual things on tap as he betook himself on swift feet to the attic where dwelt his love. Rinty paced beside him, silently and alertly and with an all-embracing dignity that befit his position as the only accredited police dog in the Chelsea precinct, nay, on the whole island of Manhattan. His police shield dangled from his collar in prideful show. Not an untoward movement or side look detracted from the conscious outward bearing and inward appreciation of his important official position.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY C. C. PYLE, EMPLOYER OF SUZANNE LENGLEN

"IT'S REALLY TOO BAD, IT SEEMS A SHAME," SAYS HELEN WILLS

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Astonishment and regret echoed today the announcement of C. C. Pyle, employer of "Red" Grange and Suzanne Lenglen, that Vincent Richards, who ranks with William T. Tilden as one of the two great American tennis players, has turned professional. The announcement was made at a dinner given Mlle Lenglen last night.

"It's really too bad," said Helen Wills, former national women's champion, at her home in Berkeley, Cal., "it seems a shame."

Tilden, who lost virtually his only rival with the defection of Richards to the professional ranks, regretted that Richards had not remained an amateur until American players had recovered their lost supremacy on the courts from France. Tilden was surprised when informed of Pyle's announcement at Great Neck, L. I.

Richards will go on tour with Suzanne Lenglen, the great French player; Mark K. Browne, Harvey Snodgrass and other stars pirated from the amateur ranks by Pyle. A week ago Richards denied any intention to turn professional, but admitted he was "doing it for the money, for my wife and my baby."

Pyle said he will announce the names of three more prominent stars Sunday who have signed contracts to play professional tennis in exhibitions over the country.

Miss Wills denied she was one of the stars.

"I am going to finish school," she declared. Miss Wills is a student at the University of California.

The shocked Tilden turned philosophical after considering the full import of Richards' decision.

"I believe that every player has a right to make his decision on the matter of professionalism," he said. "but I regret that Mr. Richards decided to turn professional before the American players had made a united effort to restore American supremacy in the amateur game. I wish him all success in his new venture and trust that it will prove profitable."

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist. —Advt.

CHICAGO CITY SERIES FACES POSTPONEMENT

By CLARK B. KELSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Oct. 1.—A second day of heavy mist threatened a second postponement of the Chicago City Series, as the Chicago White Sox prepared to defend American league honors against the Chicago Cubs in the National league club's park here today.

Yesterday's game was postponed on account of rain, and will be played off next Tuesday. Consequently today's game is in the lap of the Cubs giving the McCarthy men the additional advantage of playing on the home lot. They already have a one game lead in the series.

Either Percy Jones or Guy Bush was slated to take the slab for the National leaguers, while the Colleague Ted Lyons was Boss Eddie Collins' nomination.

STOCKS SHOW IMPROVED TONE

New York, Oct. 1.—(UP)—With the passing of the October settlement period stocks developed a greatly improved tone today. In view of the fact that dividend and interest disbursement totalled approximately a half billion dollars good reinvestment demand was expected for standard industrials and rails and this anticipation was reflected in the more confident behavior of the general list.

United States Steel and General Motors, whose strength stimulated buoyancy in the industrial list the greater part of the summer, again fired speculative enthusiasm by resuming energetic forward movement.

Toward the close the market as a whole exhibited continued irregularity due to urgent selling of special issues like Mack Trucks, Warner Brothers and Continental Baking A. However, pivotal issues continued to act well and closing prices showed general advances.

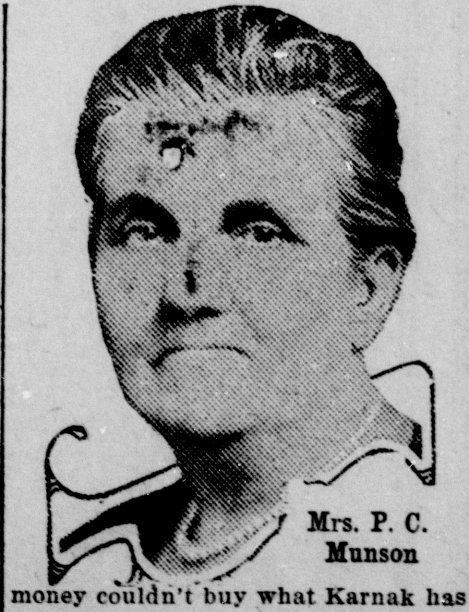

The market closed higher.

ST. PAUL WOMAN WAS ON THE VERGE OF DISPAIR

But Karnak Overcome Mrs. Hunson's 12 Years Of Agony And Built Her Up To Perfect Health.

"I had just about lost all hope of seeing another well day, but Karnak has restored me to perfect health," declares Mrs. P. C. Munson, 69 W. College Ave., St. Paul, Minn. "For 12 years I suffered agony with my stomach, and was told an operation was my only hope. The pit of my stomach seemed sore as a boil and burned like fire, and it felt like the gas pressure would stop my heart beating. I had dizzy headaches, awful pains about my kidneys, and scarcely had a particle of strength.

"But Karnak made a clean sweep of my troubles and built me up over 10 pounds in weight. Why, I never felt better in my life than now, and money couldn't buy what Karnak has done for me." Karnak is sold in Brainerd by all good drug stores and by leading druggists in every town. —Advt.
